This summer, the Harvard Global Health Institute (HGHI) will be offering about 70 fully funded global health internships for returning Harvard undergraduates. Come learn about these opportunities, discuss the application process with members of the selection committee, and chat with former interns about their experiences! There will be a 10-minute introduction by the program's coordinator at 3pm followed by break out rooms focused on:

1. Crafting your resume
2. Writing a strong personal statement
3. Insights into the virtual internship experience
4. Administrative questions and deciding where to apply
5. Contingency planning and finding other summer opportunities

Attendees can move freely between the breakout rooms and stay for as long as they want! By the end of the hour, attendees should have a better understanding about what summer opportunities are available and should have the skills to draft a competitive resume and personal statement. We hope to see you there!
